RECAPITULATION,

Mr. Lincoln has been elected President hy a clear majority over all in the Electoral Vote, of 57.

Union Mass Meeting in Vieksburg.

The Vicksburg Whig, of the 1st, says the Union meeting in that town, on Thursday of last week, was "a magnificent and triumphant success," and "the largest demonstration known in the State since the memorable canvass of '51. It was a turn out of the masses-the honest yoemanry were there, the mechanics were there, the merchants were there, the planters were there, the rich ficially declared, stands as follows: man, who had amassed his property in our midst, was there, and the energetic poor man, who is embarking and battling in the contest of life for fortune and success, was there too, and their voices united as that of one manin protesting against the sudden and unpremeditated revolution and civil war which we have been invited to encourage and hurry on."-The Whig save the sentiment of all present was to endeavor first to obtain their rights in the Union.

Hoisting the Lone Star flag in the towns throughout the State continues, and the people have united in re-sistance to Lincoln's administration.

If this be true, it is a great pity that "the Lone Star flag" was ever struck. It cost the people of the United Stated very nearly two hundred millions of dollars to bring Texas into the fold of the Union; and this is the grateful return they get for it!

An Eve to the Malu Chance.

A Washington despatch tells us that the "Members from South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi drew pay and mileage to this date, which leaves the Treasury without money for similar services to other Members." It is evident that the "Secessionists" do not intend to leave the Union "emptyhanded."

QUITE A FAMILY MESS .- Not long since a man of Sauk Co., Wis., married for his second wife his own step-mother, who, was sister to his wife. The lady therefore is step-mother and aunt to her husband's children, also their grand-mother, while the husband is a step-father to his step-sisters. Her issue by this marriage will not only be own cousins to their step-brother, but uncless and aunts also. And the lady herself, being grand-mother to her children and nephews, may be regarded as mother to herself, and children to herself, and therefore bills, with no other basis than those etceks. step-mother and aunt to her husband's self, and children to herself, and therefore bills, with no other basis than those stocks. her own grand-mother.

THE LOTTERY DUSINESS at the South is gradually dying out. The Legislature has driven it from time to time into narrow quarters, and the public begin to see that the whole thing is more or less a swindle.

MIDS ANN PANNIA CUNNINGUAM, Regent of the Mount Vernon Association, has removed her residence from Charleston, S. C., to Alexandria, Va., where all letters should be sent.

THE CURRENCY HEETING The Solid Men of Chiergo in Council.
Resolutions, Speeches, &c.

Bryan Hall was crowded to overflowing last evening with the business men of the city, to take into consideration the measures necessary to reform our vicious currency system. Every department of business was fully represented, and many valuable facts were elicited.

Charles G. Walker, Esq., called the meet ing to order, and appointed E. Hempstead, H. C. Durand and H. W. Hurlburt as a committee to nominate officers. The committee after retiring, nominated E. Tuttle,

Art. Hathaway made some strong points against our banking law generally.

Gen. Swift again urged the necessity of another meeting, illustrating the importance of the subject by reference to the fact that for forty years the wisest men in New York and New England had used their best exertions to perfect their backing systems, and still they were defective. He referred to the difficulties which the measure of the tentre.

thing here should be done with great delib-eration and cars:

Gen. John Wilson next took the floor, made an excellent spaced, referring at length both to the causes of our embarassments and the remedies to be applied. The causs of our troubles must be looked for among the harpies of Wall street, who really con-trolled our barbling grater. The excellent the harpies of Wall street, who really controlled our banking system. The remedy to be applied is for the Legislature to so amend the law as not to let men engage in the banking business who have no money.

J. V. Farwell, Equ., said we must not ask too much of the banks. They would be compelled as heretofore to redoem at their counters (a voice, 'they have no counters,') and we could go there for the money, or accept it if we chose with one per cent. discount at Springfeld or (livings). LECTURE OF JOHN B. GOUGH .- The lecture of John B. Gough, on Saturday evening, at Altany Hall, was attended by one of the largest andiences that ever assembled in that place. The stage, as well as the body of the Hall, was crowded, the people standing in the sisles and lobbies. Mr. Gough's lecture was a description of London, giving a number of figures concerning its population, business, &o., and pleasant descriptions of its people—rich and poor.

THE SENTINEL.

DAILY, TRI-WEEKLY & WEEKLY

RUFUS KING, EDITOR. MONDAY MORNING, DEC. 10, 1860.

The Covernment "as our Fathers found it." The "Democratic precedent," which we cited in our issue of Friday, in justification of the course taken by the Republican party during the recent canvass, does not seem to suit the News. We did not suppose that it would, since it effectually takes the wind out of the sails of all those Douglas organs that are now denouncing the Republicans for sticking to their creed and their candidates. The News closes its objurgatory rejoinder thus:

What was spparent to everybody except the Republicans before, is slowly, but perceptibly becoming apparent to them since election, that a man who does not believe that this povernment can endure as our fathers formed it, is und; to administer it.

Very likely. Mr. Buchanan is very much such a man. So was his Democratic predecessor, Mr. PIERCE. Ditto Mr. POLK We propose to change all that. Mr. Lix-COLN, the President elect, does "believe that the Government can endure as our fathers formed it," and intends to administer it accordingly.

The Message.

Let us devoitly thank God that, for the ensuing four years at least, the people of the United States are releved from the annual visitation of a long Presidential lecture wherely reason is insulted, humanity outraged, theory taxestied and common sense defield, in the interest of human slavery, and for the gratification of its upholders. Whatever evits the future may have in store for us, this one, at least, is for a senson intermitted, if not forever put away.

So serve the N. V. Tailman in its particular of the senson in the control of the senson in the

So says the N. Y. Tribune, in its review of the President's Message. Mr. Buchanan had a great opportunity of repairing some of the wrongs and errors of his Administration in his last annual address to Congress and the country. But with characteristic fatuity he has thrown away the chance and confirmed the ill-opinion entertained of him by the great body of the American People. This message; which was designed as a sop to the South, meets with no favor in that quarter and is universally condemned and rejected at the North.

The Disunion Excitement—Gloomy Prospects— The Southern Insaulty.

The Southern Insaulty.

We comes that we hardly ace how the danger of sceession is to be averted. We are antished that any reasonable thing which the Northern people can do to ever the canatrophe will be done. They are still willing to negotiate, to concede and to compromise arything in forcer and good serve, but the hotheast at the Stath will not listen to reason. They will not accept decent terms of compromise, and, besider, if they would, they have goon to far in their madness that that they cannot exceede, and preserve their reference, or the respect of anybody else,—Madison Argus and Democrat.

Our Madison contemporary states the case correctly. The "Secessionists" do not ask for either "compromises," or "gnaranties." They simply wish to dissolve the Union, for their own selfish purposes. We think their policy a suicidal one; fatal to them and hurtful fall to us. But if they incid upon trying the experiment, so be it. The North will gladly listen to any appeals to its magnanimity and futter to see one mounted above a manly sense of justice; but it will not succumb to

WHAT THEY CONTRIBUTE .- The following figures will show how much the neisiest of the disunion States contribute towards the support of the Government in one of its departments. They are the annual Post departments. They are the annual Post the State is a great institution, and her cadets great fellows.

A NOVEL BUT EXCELLENT WAY OF CEL-BEHATING THANKSGIVING .- The New York

Times says one of the most interesting svents connected with the celebration of Thanks giving in Brooklyn, occurred at the Elm Place Congregational Church, Rev. Mr. Bart Lett pastor. In lieu of a sermon, the society prepared a dinner in the body of the church for the poor, and hundreds partook of a better dinner than they ever saw before. The main floor of the building was filled with tables, upon which was placed every variety of edibles, including one hundred and twenty five roast twrkeys, roast beef, puddings, pastry of all kinds, sauces, celery, puddings, pastry of all kinds, sauces, celery, puddings, pastry of all kinds, sauces celery, puddings, pastry of all kinds, sauces, celery, time from 12 until 3 o'clook, during which time not less than 2,000 persons obtained a good dinner. The proceedings were opened by a prayer and singing, and a short address by the pastor, and at the close the decology was sung by all present. Nearly all who joined in the feast were women and children.

They may not be incendiary, and we hope they are not; but with their sentiments, they are out of place here.—Booner or later they or we must yield in this conntry; and, for one, we prefer to domicountry; and, for one, we prefer to domi-nate. The time has come for making those who disapprove of slavery go from among it. Our own safety requires it, and the sooner the matter is understood the better. The people of the South have been so lenient and forbearing that our enemies have been emboldened to beard us in our very homes. "It is a stern duty, but it must be performed—that of expelling our enemies. But a day or two since, one of the emissaries who furnished strychime to negroes in Texas (Lockwood), was in our midst.— That he was not hanged was a disgrace to the city. There are a few more still here, believed to be no better—to be dealers in Abolition books, etc. (we do not allude to any regular dealer in books or newspapers), and it is time they were searched and expelled.

"In Mobile, we are advised by a friend, it is intended to make the rule rigid—to expel every man or woman, known to entertain free soil or abolition sentiments. It must come to that, or Southern throats can not be safe.

"We trust no one will misapprehend these paragraphs. We mean only, that we are for expelling any and every enemy of our institution, no matter how cautious his Various members testified to Mr. Clarke's residue to all characters and it was stated phraseology and conduct. The South cannot afford to entertain spies or emissaries at least knowingly."

A Charleston Tea Party. The favorite old idea that tea cheers but not inebriates, has received a zevere shock in the publication of the following resolutions, passed by a party of "young ladies," and printed in the paper to which they are rddressed:

To the Editor of the Charleston Mercury: To the Editor of the Charleston mercury:

A party of young ladies, recently, while sipping inspirations from the Chinu leaf, became warmly imbued with the spirit of the times, and after electing officers, etc. drew up the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we, though by Divine and the transit to the "tweeter vessels?" and thority termed the "weaker versels," are nevertheless endowed with resolute wills, and hence have the power to make resolves,

Recoved, That since the election of Lincoln to the Presidency, we consider our allegance to the North as ended, and will therefore use our influence in favor of an immediate secession.

Resolved, That we honor all men who are for this movement, but are determined to secede ourselves from all who are opposed to

Resolved, That "guppowder tea" shall be our favorite beverage, and "percussion caps" the only ones we shall set.

Resolved, That "Yankee Doodle" is now defunct, and we can henceforth play only marches and quicksteps, and sing of the Lone Star, the Soldier's Return, etc.

Resolved, That the Military Institution of sury gravent to the rankees for their past services in making our shoes, &c., we are now seized with a decided predilection in favor of French boots, and hope to get a supply as soon as our Southern President becomes insumpreted ecomes inangurated.

Resolved. That since the weather is go thing quite cold, and manufacturing establ 1-ments South rather scarce, we will hold obtoour Northern "goods and chattels" a while longer, knowing that our salks and worsteds are from Europe, and feeling that to our calicees and cotton stuffs, at least, we have the original, the "God-given right."

Resolved. That though our Palmotto shades are dearer to us than life, yet we love every State at the South—two of them especially—and dwell with delight upon the beautiful lake scenery of the one, and the mountain and grotto views—ideal painted—

Moses Hancock, B. L. Babbit, Town Com.

Schrief Fever, The scarlet fever is raging to some extent in Watertown (Wis.) smong the children. A number of deaths have occurred.

We learn from the Watertown Republicant the following:

We learn from the Wat

Methodism and Pistols- A Chaplain to the Kulghas of the Colden Circle on Trial.

There was a Conference of the Methodist omitted in the inflatives of last conference, was called—was ready to take any position that Conference might assign him.

Mr. Langhorne made objection to Mr. Ciark, on the grounds that he had joined the Knights of the Golden Circle, and had acted as Chaplain to the order. Had appearated to Tachkard with high theory full recommend.

in objections to such things, he wished to continue always such a character.

Mr. Clark replied, stating that Mr. L. had had ample opportunity to attack him on this subject, but instead had kept away, and gathered up public rumors, brought them here to his damage.

Some conversation ensued, in which the Bishop and several members took part, as to the proper course to purste when there was objection to any as to the conduct of a minister—when a formal trial should be had and when, without previous warning, it was proper to challenge him before the Confertor Mr. Laughorne contended that the objection made to Mr. Clarke, was one of noteriety such as to require no notice.

Mr. Rownie said he was perfectly satisfied that no immorality whateve attached to Mr. Clarke; and that, a sa man, Christian and gentleman, he was above reproach. The Association to which he had attached himself was an association for benevolent purposes. -and a connection with it no immorality. -and a connection with it no immorality.

A member—No immorality was charged Mr. Rowzie-1 do not see that there was any impropriety in it. The speeches he made were entirely consistent with the ministerial elegation.

conduct and character; and it was stated that his ministerial acceptability had in no degree been abated by his connection with the Association referred to.
Mr. Rowzie said that as to the weapon of defence which Mr. C. had in his trunks, he was then on his way to a distant point, and new not the dancers that might attend his journey. It was but a proper precaution.— He had heard of preachers in Texas who went armed.

The Bishop: Yes, sir—and by my advice. They were needed to protect themselves from the Indians. They thus saved them selves even from attack. Arms ought to be borne when thus necessary. He (the Bishop) would do the same—just as he had recommended it to others.

Mr. Laughorne withdrew his objections to Mr. Clarke. He said that he had never had a revolver, but thought he should have one went armed.

a revolver, but thought he should buy our when he got home, after the advice which had been given.

The Bishop—Buy two if necessary—but

Dr. Smith wished brethren to discriminate between passing upon Mr. Clark's character and approxing of the Order of which he (Mr. C.) was the chaptain. He knew nothing about that Order. He did of it. The vete on Mr. O.'s character had no reference to the Order.

The Bishop expressed his concurrence in the same view, and there were many tokens.

of assent among the members. The vote referred merely to the moral character of Mr. C. The Church had no right to pass upon questions of mere political or social policy. He knew nothing of the Knights of the Golden Circle, but any vote of this body would have no reference to it. Preachers have be-served rights; and if a man behaves himself he may join as many secret orders as he pleases. This body had no right to say that he shall not.

It was proper for ministers in peculiar circumstances to carry arms. Every man, boy, and, he would almost say, every woman, should learn the use of them. The danger was, that in times of excitement they would use them unjustly; and on that account the use them unjustly; and on that account the carrying them should be discountenanced in this civilized country.

The Bishop, at the suggestion of Dr. Edwards, stated that any remarks to be made respecting the use of fire arms did not at all refer to the "duello," which he strongly condemned.

Mr. Clarke's character was then passed. TAGLIONI IN HER OLD AGE .- What can

TAGLIONI IN HER OAD AGE.—What can be imagined more melancholy, says a recent number of the New York Express, then the sight new presented at the rehentsais of the Grand Opera in Paris. Taglioni, once la Desse de la danse, has been obliged by Time, who, like pallida mors, knocks at every door, to abdicate her divinity; she no longer delights admiring crowds, nor by her enchanting grace exterts the plaudits of the echoing theatre. And yet the souvenirs of her former glory are too strong to allow her ber former glory are too strong to allow her to live elsewhere, and every morning the visits the stage to superintend therehearsals of a ballet in which she is not to dones. The incomparable gyrations that so fac-cinated the world can never more be renew-ed, but she groups the copys and arranges the tableaux, and directs the movements of the haddling ballet girls. Instead of com-ing at night, anid flowers and lights, and the incense of adulation, to whirl into atti-tudes of such grace that none could resist their charm, she now appears in the morn-ing in bounct and shawl, with wearied and rheumatic limbs, her clasticity departed, her woodrops (exclusions withered)

whether this is done or not, the fact will remain that it was put there before the Republicans obtained the control of the State Government, and since that time they have modified some of its most obnexious features.

What Missouri Must Br.—The following prediction was made lately by the St. Louis Bulletin, the leading Breckinridge or—se and at the time of his decease, but a North by ordering from Connecticut all their rifles and pistols for defauding themselves against the North, and from New York all against the North, and from Men North at the Paimetto flags that are to wave over their chivalrio heads in the condict. Why can't they send for a supply of Yankee fin-gers to pull their triggers for them?—Lou.

We advise the editors of Northern papers we advise the editors of Northern papers to be careful how they copy the above peragraph without giving ample credit. If it should appear in a Northern paper without proper credit it, would be styled incendiary.

THE UNCALLED-FOR LETTER. AY IRENE STILES.

"I hope you will write to me, James," said Mrs. Manvers to her husband as he was about to start from home. She was was about to start from home. She was about to say something more, but the recollection of his peculiar views, checked her, and she bade him good bye.

He expected to be gone only about aix weeks, and thought it all nonsense to be scribbling letters home to his wife. He was not an arking a relation arking a relation arking deep the say manufacturally. not an unkind, or not an unintentionally unkind husband; but, being accustomed to look upon the bright side of life's picture, he could not understand his wife's mind, phrase, 'sackly sentimentality.' but he seem-ted not to recognize the existence of sound, wholesome sentimentality. Sentiment springs from feeling, and, in fact, is a thought produced from feeling and must be healthy, or otherwise according to the sound-ness, or unsoundness, of the feeling which

Mrs. Manyers would have said, "I wish you would write sometimes, James; events may transpire which will render it important that we should hear from each other." She would have spoken freely, but a peculiar expression of his face made her cast the wish back into her own heart. She know he attributed the desire to a sickly sensimental wish to restore the days of their courtta, wish to restore the days of their coursabip.

He passed at the gate as though reductant to bid adden to the little Annie who had followed him there and still cung to his hand. She was their only child, not quite three summers old; a fair haired delicate fairy oreature; the pet and darling for her father He thought she locked paler than usual, and her little voice, as she said "Good bye, pana" sounded melancholity to his car. na. 22 sounded melancholly to his car.

But, as he passed along, the feeling passed away. He was a thorough man of business, and engrossed with its oares. A week, a fortnight, wore away, and it had not entered into his mind to write home.

Not so Mrs. Manvers. She had written an earnest letter, imploring him to return.—And how anxiously did she look for him, and how any little sound in the still hours of the night would cause her to start, while her heart would be at almost andibly. But her heart would beat almost audibly. But she waited his return in vain. At length his business was closed, and the time came for his return home.

It was about midday, and Mrs. Manyers' It was about midday, and Ars. Manvers' table was already spread for dinner, when she saw her hustand coming, with a quick, elastic step, and a happy smile on his face. He carried in his band a parcel.

Mrs. Manvers saw at a glance that he had not received her letter, and her heart sauk within her, for how could she break to him the intuition.

the intelligence which her letter ought to have imparted.

As he approached the house, he expected to hear the patter of little feet coming to meet him. He thought he should hear the cry of joy at his unexpected arrival, while he should clasp the little form in his arms and THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY.

where is Annie? With a voice almost lowered to a whisper, With a voice almost lowered to a whisper, Mrs. Manvers replied, 'she is agleepi'; but, she continued, 'come in and prepare for dinner; you must be fatigued and need refreshments after your journey.'? Quickly were the dusty boots removed, and the comfortable slippers substituted in their HUN.

These Pills should not be token by females during the stead, and the coat was laid aside for the easy dressing gown, and with the aid of a little water Mr. Manver's began to feel already quite rested, and sat down to dinner in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on Slight exertion, at the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on Slight exertion, religiously the state of the lumbs, for the Beart, liysteries and Whites. Mrs. Manver's encouraged him to relate incidents of his journey, until finding he had sat long at table, exclaimed, with surprise, "How long Annie sleeps; is she well? I must go and look at her while she is sleeping." He arose to do so, but his wife stopped him by saying, "Come with me first, James; let us take a walk in the garden. I have something to say to you." Her manner was so serious and earnest that he felt a strang same of fear of something he desired strang sense of fear of something he dared not even define, and dreaded to be made acuainted with. For some time they walked about in sience. He observed that here and there a choice flower root, or an evergreen, was gone, but he made no enquiries concerning them, for his heart sank within him. At length, Mrs. Manvers broke the silence by зауing: "I perceive you did not get my letter, which I directed to you at R—, three weeks ago. Were you not there at that

Washington Matters.

Washington, Dec. 7.
The Committee on Washington, Dec. 7.
The Committee on Washington and Means meet to morrow, to consider what form and what manner of relief shall be needed. The first question will be whether to convert the $12,000,000 of uncalled Joans into treasury poles and to give the Segretary the $10. $12,000,000 of unsating foars into freasity notes, and to give the Secretary the $10,-000,000 additional, as stated in his report, or to make a thorough investigation of the treasury, and provide at once for its full wants.

Information received here states that a force of 2,000 strong was organized in South Carolina, for the purpose of taking forts there whenever the government shall refuse to relinquish them after secession. Notwithstanding the threatening attitude of South Carolina, there is reason to know that the most discreet and trusted advisors have managers there counseling most discreet and trusted advisors have written to the managers there counseling against any demonstration whatever by against any demonstration whatever by things certainly shows it up in its true light, and we which a collision might be precipitated, or trust will open the eyes of our people to the necessity Mr. Cobb has neither resigned nor left the

The week closes without improvement in the money market in any respect. The rate of Exchange established by the banks has been merely nominal, for they are not making any, and brokers found no difficulty in obtaining T@S 3 cent during the last few days for all they cold pare, selling to customers only at the instable of any are. side figure. In fact, the only remittances of any account that are being mane are through the mention of hogs and flour, which some of our wholesale merchants are sending forward pretty freely by the Detroit and Milwaukee Ruitroad. On Saturday alone there were not less than $50,000 worth of flour and purk shipped by that route. This of course affords some relief, but also involves some risk of loss on the part of those who are thus compelled through the inconvertible and nsound character of our currency to go into a de, cription of business of which they have little knowledge in order to convert that currency into something with which they can pay their Eastern debts. If anything were needed to prove the uselessness of our our rency for the purposes of commerce, this state of of a better system. It will be seen, by the proceed; ings of a meeting of the husiness men of Chicago, which we publish in another column, that the people of Illinois are moving in the matter of reforming their currency system, and we think that the people of Wisconsin might with good reason follow the example. While we regard it as the soundest policy in panic imes like the present to forbear from any course that would tend to weaken confidence in the only description of money we have, no prudent measure should be left untried, to avoid a recurrence of the evils under which we are now suffering. We commend the proceedings of the meeting referred to, to the attention of the business men of Milwaukee. The stringency of Exchange is not the only feature in which the money market plaches just now. Some of our leading banks have such an immense amount of produce paper to "carry," that they are practically useless in aiding the business community, and how, ever much willingness they may express to negotiate "neceptable" paper, their discretion in this respect is governed to a far greater extent by their limited means than any motives of produce. It is well, an Oata 22@22c; shelled Corn 37@36c; common to No. der this state of affairs, that the demands for money 1 Barley 37@50; Rye 40@42c. In this morning's issue we gave currency, upon what we deemed good authority, to a rumor which has been prevalent in this city for several days that the produce house of Jusse Hovr & Co., New York, had failed. We are now authorized by their correspondents In this city, Messrs. Andes Smith & Co., to state that the report is wholly unfounded. They have not failed, or even suspended, although in connoon with the other large produce houses in New York, there is a possibility that they may be compelled, through the disturbed state of the money market, to suspend for a time, but their fallure is out of the question, as they are well known to be, financially, one of the strongest firms in New York. We plead guilty to the impropriety of crediting such rumors in these times, and nasten to make the fullest repuration in our power,

COMMUNICIAL.

SATURDAY P. M., Dec. S. 1960. For a wonder we are to-day relieved of the neces sity of making the usual announcement of a "further decline in wheat." The market stopped declining for the first time in the the past two weeks. In fact, by looking at our files we find that the dewnward course of prices has been uninterrupted since the 23d of ka month, more or less of a decline taking place every day. New York prices being reported unchanged today, there were buyers in the market for a limited amount at 62@64c for No. 2 and No. 1 spring in store -s decline of Sa for the week. Helders were not anxious to realize, and sales were very trilling. The re ceipts were the smallest of any day since the movement of the present crop, amounting to only about 6,000 bus, exclusive of the deliveries by teams. Sales tof five or alx hundred barrels of flour were rumor ed, but we wore unable to obtain any information as to prices, seliers entertaining an idea that the prestige of their brands would suffer by reporting sales at the present ow prices. Buyers tell us that they are offered very good brands at $3,50, and probably from that figure to $3,75 would include the range for good to lancy Ex. | same as last week, viz: 10@10,75 for eargo, . . The receipts of hogs, live and dressed, amounts to 2,145. The market for live was rather dull and heavy, but there was no change in prices from yesterday aftermoon. Both packers and shippers bought very lightly, and nothing but the light receipts prevented another break in the market. The sales ranged from 44,2505,50 gross. Dressed hogs were also dull and heavy with light transactions at $4.00,08 -the intervery choice and heavy. At the close $5,25 was the highest bid for heavy logs.

The Provision market is at a perfect dead halt.—There is no inquiry for any kind of product, and questations would be nominal. ## MARINE NEWS.

The propellers Acono, Ogdoniburgh and Quincy arrived on Saturday morning. The Brst belongs to the New York and Eric Line, and had a cargo of seren hundred tons of general merchandize, four hundred of which were for this port, and the remainder amount of freight for this port. The Wasconsin, of the Northern Transportation Co., is the only additional boat that is expected this season, and if she has got through the Welland Canalishe will doubtless be able to come through, as it is probable that there will not be emough ice between here and Detroit for ten days yet, to obstruct her passage.
